Felicity has consulted for the UNODC on the intersection between human trafficking, the smuggling of migrants and cybercrime. She has a long history of training professionals: this includes prosecutors in Rwanda on human trafficking, gender-based violence and corruption law as part of the Bridges to Justice Project; the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association Modern Slavery Project and the Bangladesh Judiciary Management Project.

Her policy submissions have led to changes in the law on Modern Slavery, FGM and Reproductive Rights and supported approaches to Afghanistan post-withdrawal.

She currently leads a Legal Services Board funded research project on Modern Slavery. She led a death penalty study for the Commission of Human Rights for the Philippines and a Human Trafficking report in 2023 for the International Bar Association and contributed to the 2022 Edge of Law Report in key legal challenges in the Asia-Pacific for the Bar Human Rights Committee and the American Bar Association Rule of Law Initiative.

Felicity is widely published in the fields of women and law, technology and law, and reforming justice systems. She contributes to Annotated Leading Cases of International Criminal Tribunals, the Research Handbook on Feminist Engagement in International Law, Human Trafficking and Modern Slavery Law and Practice, and is the Editor of ANZSIL Perspective.

BUSINESS CRIME

Felicity has a particular expertise in fraud, money laundering and sanctions law, recently contributing to the memorandum that led to the $82m divestment of the Golden City investment on the Singapore Stock Exchange and providing her expertise to the challenge to the sale of Telenor Myanmar. In 2023 she lectured in Sanctions law and was called upon to represent and advise in a transnational commodities conspiracy. Her PhD involved joint research on complex combinatoric mathematics and game theory. She has also advised on corporate responsibility for modern slavery in supply chains, logging importation and biosecurity breaches.

Felicity also has a niche practice area in art law including the destruction of cultural heritage, restitution, repatriation, and reparations.

DEFENCE CRIME

Felicity excels in cases domestically and overseas involving difficult points of law, high profile, difficult or vulnerable clients and often a combination of all these factors, generally in the context of international, organised, and transnational crime.

Felicity is ranked in Legal 500 and Chambers and Partners and has a wealth of experience handling unusual, sensitive, or controversial matters.

She has extensive defence experience including acting in landmark trials and appeals in Homicide, Terrorism, Fraud, War Crimes, Modern slavery/human trafficking, and Sexual offending.

Her cases have significantly contributed to the development of domestic and international criminal law giving exceptional insight to the law in complex and sensitive areas which draw on her PhD and other academic experience as a Professor of Legal Practice.

Felicity is esteemed and in high demand, working with leading law firms on high profile cases in the UK and overseas and she welcomes a challenge.

She is often called upon to address reforms to criminal justice, including in the House of Lords and House of Commons.

Recent feedback: “The Defence battled with Prosecution for over 7 weeks to secure an acquittal. Felicity Gerry KC was outstanding in her performance throughout and certainly is one of the best in the country”.

SEXUAL OFFENCES

Felicity has nearly 30 years' experience of cases involving allegations of sexual offending at every level of seriousness, often involving high profile clients. This includes rape in homicide, intimate partner allegations, multi complainant cases and cases involving child witnesses. She is a co-author of The Sexual Offences Handbook (3rd Edition forthcoming) and has provided training, and published numerous articles, on the law in this area. She has been involved in the development of advocacy toolkits for questioning vulnerable witnesses and vulnerable defendants and has the skills and experience to deal with these sensitive cases. She is generally instructed to defend in complex recent and historic allegations, including those which involve deception, complex scientific evidence and digital material which gives rise to disclosure issues.

APPELLATE

Felicity is commonly called upon to advise and appear in complex appeals generally in her core areas of practice – homicide, fraud, terrorism, and war crimes.

She has led appeals at the highest level including the UK Supreme Court, the Australian High Court and the Hong Kong Court of Final Appeal. She was leading counsel in R v Jogee [2016] UKSC 8 which corrected an error of law in “joint enterprise” law. She also led appeals in R v Lewis [2017] EWCA Crim 1734 which clarified the law on joint principalship and in R v Rebelo (No1) [2019] EWCA Crim 633 which clarified the law on manslaughter and intervening acts and in AAD and others [2022] EWCA Crim 106 which provided guidance on Modern Slavery defences.

She also led the Intervention on behalf of JUSTICE in R (on the application of Begum) (Appellant) v Special Immigration Appeals Commission (Respondent) R (on the application of Begum) (Respondent) v Secretary of State for the Home Department (Appellant) Begum (Respondent) v Secretary of State for the Home Department (Appellant) [2021] UKSC 7. The intervention detailed the ancient common law of allegiance and its application to trafficked persons.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING & MODERN SLAVERY

Felicity holds a PhD on human trafficking / Modern Slavery law and has a particular expertise in Modern Slavery law, including with a corporate overlap and is regularly instructed in appeals on behalf of trafficked persons who commit crime. She has provided training to the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association as part of The Modern Slavery Project which is a two-year multilateral project providing practical advice and support to Commonwealth legislatures in the pursuit of combatting modern slavery. She is a contributor to Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Law and Practice (Bloomsbury)

HOMICIDE

Felicity has a particular interest in homicide law including murder and manslaughter especially multi-defendant cases applying the law on complicity known as “joint enterprise”: She was leading counsel in R v Jogee [2016] UKSC 8 which corrected an error of law in joint enterprise. She led similar appeals in Hong Kong and Australia. She also led appeals in R v Lewis [2017] EWCA Crim 1734 which clarified the law on joint principalship and in R v Rebelo (No1) [2019] EWCA Crim 633 which clarified the law on manslaughter and intervening acts. She led a successful mercy petition on behalf of a young Aboriginal man who was convicted of a murder when he was not physically present and has filed similar petitions for conditional pardons in the UK on behalf of an autistic prisoner and a black youth both affected by the errors of law in joint enterprise.

Recent trials and appeals
